

A decorative illustration of a cherry blossom branch. The branch is brown and curves from the bottom left towards the top right. It features several green leaves with prominent veins. Interspersed among the leaves are numerous cherry blossoms in various stages of bloom. Some flowers are fully open, showing five light pink petals and a bright yellow center with stamens. Others are in bud form, appearing as small, rounded pink shapes. The background is plain white.

A large, stylized tree with a thick brown trunk and a dense green canopy. The trunk is brown with vertical lines indicating bark texture. The canopy is composed of many rounded, green leaves. The roots are visible at the base, spreading out horizontally. The tree is centered in the image.
